THE DESIGN HOT LIST

Richard and Barbara Mullen,

CAROLINE EDWARDS INTERIOR

DESIGN: This design couple designed the Remède Spa and the guestrooms at the St. Regis Resort while at POSS Architecture. The pair, who recently moved to a Basalt design firm, is known for interiors that speak of a "sense of place" in the mountain community. 970-920-3331, www.carolineedwards.com.

Adam Casias, CHARLES CUNNIFFE

ARCHITECTS: Considered by his peers to be a key "design guy" for Charles Cunniffe, Casias' talent and motivation, "are helping to redefine the firm's identity and move it in a more contemporary direction." 970-925-5590, www.cunniffe.com.

Rally Dupps, CONSORTIUM

ARCHITECTS: Dupps enjoys the challenge and complexity of designing in the Valley, believing that "richness in architecture is derived from complexity." 970-927-2299.

Monique Spears, ELEMENTS: This up and coming landscape designer is making waves with her team-player attitude by working closely with architects and designers for an organic and modern aesthetic. 970-309-3302.

Scott Bartleet and Lyndal Williams, FLUX DESIGN STUDIO:

This renowned design couple believes that design should be "malleable and adaptive and respond and embrace the ideas of growth and change." www.designinflux.com.

Joe McGuire, JOE MCGUIRE

DESIGN: This Aspen-based interior designer creates projects that possess a contemporary sensibility and incorporate natural, organic materials. 970-948-7096.

Derek Skalko, 1 FRIDAY DESIGN

COLLABORATIVE: Known for his multidisciplinary studio, Skalko "places importance on a sympathetic relationship between what we produce and the world in which it exists." 970-309-0695, www.1friday.com.

Robyn Scott, ROBYN SCOTT

INTERIORS: Scott combines organic, natural elements with contemporary design for a wonderfully modern way of living. 970-927-5354, www.rsidesigns.com.

Sarah Broughton and John Rowland, ROWLAND+BROUGHTON ARCHITECTURE AND URBAN DESIGN:

This dynamic duo approaches the built environment with an innovative and sustainable approach. 970-544-9006, www.rowlandbroughton.com.

Chatter

Snowmass will be home to trendy boutique hotel VICEROY, and, rumor has it, a MANDARIN ORIENTAL and a MIRAVAL SPA (owned by AOL co-founder and Aspen Institute regular STEVE CASE). Though it's not official, we're already curious how Viceroy's hip, coastal vibe will translate to our mountain town. 🌿 As usual, the quality hotels planned near LIFT 1A are generating controversy. In the end, we don't care where the new lift starts as long as it's there to cut down on shuttles from the St. Regis to the gondola. Besides, aren't we all used to walking uphill in ski boots? 🌿 High-powered politicians, scientists and celebrities are expected to be sneaking into Aspen around the beginning of September for the FORSTMANN LITTLE CONFERENCE, an under-the-radar gathering of might and power and their private jets. 🌿 And some may stick around for the ASPEN HEALTH FORUM, a new four-day meeting to explore issues in medical science and health. We'll see if they spend more time talking or rejuvenating at the spa. 🌿 CHEF MARK FISCHER and the usual suspects of the Valley's sustainable food world are collaborating for the fifth SLOW FOOD HARVEST SOCIAL in September. Just the thought of the largest fundraiser for Slow Food in the Valley is making our mouths water.
